

BOLSHEVIKI WILL SEND THEIR OWN MINISTER TO U. S.

COPENHAGEN, June 12.—M. Worowski, the Bolshevik minister to Sweden, today was reported to be ready to depart for Washington as the Bolshevik ambassador to the United States.

Boris Bakhmeteff, the Russian ambassador, informed the State Department yesterday that he had dismissed Dr. G. V. Lomonosoff, head of the Russian railway mission to the United States, because of a statement the latter issued in New York Monday opposing allied intervention in Russia and upholding the bolshevik government.

The ambassador gave notice that he is the only person in the United States authorized to speak officially for Russia, and said no one connected with the embassy or under its jurisdiction is at liberty to make political statements of any character whatever.

While Ambassador Bakhmeteff is not recognized by the bolshevik regime, he is recognized by the American State Department as the official representative of Russia in the United States. Consequently his action deprives Dr. Lomonosoff of any official status quite as effectively as though there were no law in the relations between the embassy and the powers that be at home.

Both the ambassador and the railway mission were accredited to the United States by the provisional government of Kerensky. Since the overthrow of that government by the bolsheviks there has been no change in the attitude of the State Department toward the embassy, which promptly repudiated the bolsheviks.

Dr. Lomonosoff aroused the Russian colony in New York Monday by his statement, and Tuesday night he addressed a mass meeting held to protest against allied intervention and to urge recognition of the bolshevik soviet.

Coming to the Capital Theaters

Messrs. Wagenhals and Kemper will present Sergt. Arthur Guy Empey, of "Over the Top" fame, in person, and Rose Stahl, one of the best known character stars on the American stage, in a new war comedy of happiness by George C. Hazelton, entitled "Pack Up Your Troubles," at the National Theater for the week beginning next Monday night. The new piece is said to be clean, sweet, human, and humorous from start to finish.

SELWYN & CO. Selwyn & Co. present "The Burnt Her Fingers," a comedy by Commo Hamilton, here next week. This is their second new play to be seen at the Belasco this month, and is one of a trio of new plays to have their premiere in Washington within a month. Selwyn & Co., as is their custom, have given the new play an elaborate production. The company is a distinguished one, and includes Estelle Winwood, Warburton Gamble, Charles B. Wells, Amelia Gardner, Alice Putnam, Merle Maderna, Kate Blanche, Thurlow Bergen, and several others.

R. F. KITH'S. Gus Edwards' Annual Song Revue, heralded as the largest and the gayest of the composer-producer's offerings, will be the chief attraction at R. F. Kith's next week. The extra added attraction will be furnished by John Barclay and company in "Somewhere in France." Others on the bill are Charles Irwin and Kitty Henry, Marie Fitzgerald, Bayonne Whipple, Walter Huston and company, De Haven and Nice, and Sylvia Loyal and Pierrot.

POL'S. With a continuous line at the box office, it is self-evident that Washington has capitulated to the charms of the newest D. W. Griffith wonder spectacle, "Hearts of the World," with the same enthusiasm that has attended its record-breaking engagements elsewhere.

To meet the demand for seats its engagement has been extended to two weeks, and it will remain at Pol's until Saturday night, June 22, with two performances daily. Audiences that are packing the theater this week are expressing their enthusiasm in tumultuous applause and spells of impressive silence. It is a great drama, not only because it was made under fire at the war front, but because of its wonderful sweet, human and appealing love story.

GLENN ECHO PARK. Those of Washington's newcomers who so far have failed to pay a visit to Glenn Echo Park have not only missed a pleasant outing but have failed to take the "show ride" of the Capital's trolley system.

The through cars to the resort run for miles along the Potomac, high up on the bluffs of the Maryland side, affording a wonderful view of the beautiful river. For the Sunday visitors there will be an other series of concerts by Cello's band both afternoon and evening and the regular list of diversions and amusements. On week nights there is dancing in the open pavilion to music by a ten-piece orchestra. Admission to the grounds is always free.

COSMOS. Never was a picture more weird and thrilling than "Tarzan of the Apes," the big photoplay which will form a part of the Cosmos Theater bill next week, at the matinee. The vaudeville will be headed by "The Wild of Africa," a 1918 song and dance. Another big act will be Wormwood's Animal Act. Other offerings will include the Celestial Duo, in beautiful music and songs; Harry Skyes, a blackface laugh-maker; Seabury and Price with their novel regular pictures and the O'Neill Sisters, dainty exponents of song, with a Billy Blunden comedy and the Herald Pathé News, Sunday starting at 3 p. m., the performances will feature all this week bill.

LIBERTY DANCING GARDENS. Among the Capital's dancing set, the Danante Gardens' popularity is at its height. The new Electric Gardens is the gathering place for them nightly by the hundreds. The floors are composed of ground marble and glass, highly polished with various colored electric lights shining through them. As a special Sunday evening attraction there will be a Promenade Concert, of which motion pictures and a band concert will be the predominate feature.

STRAND. Only three days remain in which to see Vitaphone's great picture of Sergt. Arthur Guy Empey's world-famous book, "Over the Top," being shown throughout the week at Moore's Strand Theater. With Sergt. Empey himself, starred in the role of the hero, the picture is a masterpiece of the Strand. Next week at the Strand will be divided between J. Stuart Blackton's production of "Missing" and "The Woman's Law," picturing Florence Reed.

MARSHALL HALL. One of the most popular attractions at Marshall Hall this season is dancing, and the riverside pavilion is crowded nightly with couples of all ages. Other amusements are found in the dip, the carousel, the swings, bowling alleys and other devices to while away caroling care. A well-equipped cafe caters to the wants of its inner man. The steamer Charles Macomber is now making three

HURLEY WANTS NO NEW SHIP PLANTS UNLESS LICENSED

Congress has been asked by the Shipping Board to tighten the grasp of the Government upon the country's shipbuilding industry by legislation forbidding the building of new plants or the extension of old except under license.

Chairman Hurley wrote to Chairman Alexander of the House Merchant Marine Committee that the legislation is necessary to prevent interference with the board's building program. Since the world need for ships became acute, many yards have been started by private persons, some of whom sought Government contracts and credit as soon as a beginning was made.

Prevent Speculation. The board desired to prevent speculation in shipbuilding and to stabilize the supply of labor and the market for material. It also desired to obtain greater control over the acceptance of contracts by domestic yards for foreign account.

Shipbuilding facilities in the United States are being increased rapidly. Mr. Hurley drew a distinction between possible ultimate capacity and expected output. "I have not predicted the tonnage for 1919," he said, "for the simple reason that such predictions frequently give wrong impressions. Predictions depend on so many contingencies that they are frequently misleading. The point I have been making is that we have available or under construction 751 ways for cargo ships, and that if a speed of three ships a year can be obtained from each shipyard we will be able to turn out 13,518,000 tons in a single year after the peak of production is reached."

Special Task of Schwab. "I do not regard it as humanly possible to turn out any such tonnage in 1919. The facilities for such tonnage are not yet available. When we were turning out tonnage at the rate of less than one million tons a year, the program we set for ourselves was 6,000,000. This year we hope to build at least 3,000,000 tons, which is more than three times the output of last year, but have set our program up to 13,518,000. When we plan so large a tonnage, it means that we must immediately plan to enlarge our facilities to task to which Director General Schwab is giving his personal attention at the present time."

The total tonnage built next year doubtless will be held down to some extent by the building of a large number of transports, which require at least eight months to complete, as compared with four months or less for cargo vessels.

DON'T KNOW WHERE TO PUT EMBALMER IN DRAFT

Provost Marshal General Crowder has been given another hard nut to crack.

A draft board in a small Western community wired for advice on how to classify, under the "work or fight" order, a registrant holding the position of clerk in the general store, who also is the village undertaker. In view of the fact that neither is "productive" employment, General Crowder is having to scratch his head for the answer.

A local board in a Southern town has gone one better and reported its undertaker for "limited" military service.

WOUNDED SAMMIES BROUGHT BACK TO U. S.

Two hundred and twenty-four sick and wounded soldiers of the American expeditionary forces were landed in this country during the two weeks ending June 7.

trips, both daily and Sunday, to Marshall Hall, leaving the seventh street wharves at 10 a. m., 2:30 and 5:30 p. m.

GARDEN. The attraction announced for Moore's Garden Theater the last two days of this week is "Vengeance Is Mine," a new Pathé release in which Irene Castle is the pictured star. Next week at the garden will bring to the screen Sunday through Tuesday, "Hill of Pallies," starring Beanie Barrieke; Wednesday and Thursday, Beanie Love in "How Can You, Caroline"; and Friday and Saturday, Ruth Clifford in "Midnight Madness."

Loses Two of His Toes In Order to Win Way Into the Marine Corps

BILLINGS, Mont., June 12.—He was told that he had two too many toes, but William Lundberg, an office manager of this city, still insisted on enlisting in the Marine Corps.

There was an extra pedal appendage on each foot. "Will you accept me with only ten?" asked Lundberg. He was given an affirmative answer. The would-be sea soldier hurried to a surgeon, and spurning an anesthetic, calmly watched the amputation. In a few days he will be wearing the marine uniform.

ARMY AIDS GERMAN LOAN. AMSTERDAM, June 12.—Subscriptions from the army to the eighth German war loan brought the total of the loan up to 15,001,425,000 marks, according to Berlin dispatches today.

KING GEORGE WILL CELEBRATE FOURTH AT BASEBALL GAME

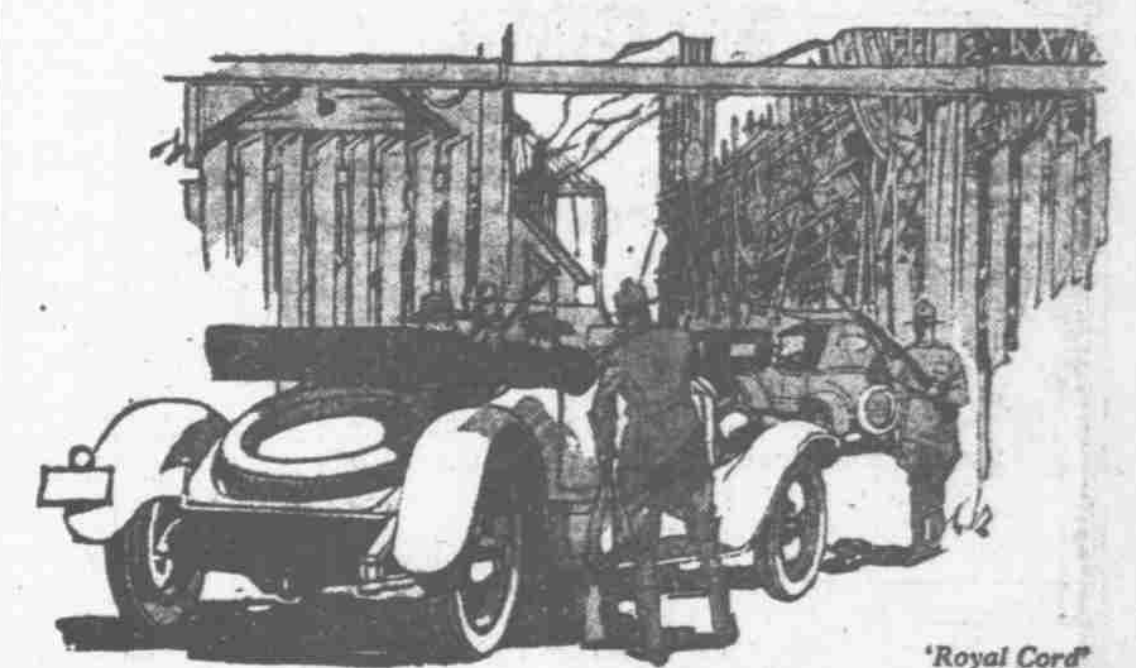

LONDON, June 12.—The Evening News says:

"Great enthusiasm is caused by the announcement that King George intends to celebrate Independence Day by attending the baseball match at Chelsea. Now I learn that the Queen and Princess Mary, the Duchess of Argyll and other royalties are to be present."

"Americans from distant parts of the country, as much as 300 miles away, are writing for tickets. One American at a place 240 miles from London has written for forty tickets as he wants to bring along a party of English friends. It means railway traveling, but the occasion is a great and historic one."

Now I just tumble them into the pure suds!

THOSE little odd things that soil so quickly—what a nightmare they always used to be! Out of three sets of washable satin collars and cuffs I was fortunate to have one pair clean enough to wear! The dainty little accessories I longed to buy were such a bother to keep clean!

"But now that I have discovered Lux, I buy all the little odd things I want! I never think twice about washing them. Now I just tumble them into the pure rich suds the moment they are soiled. Then I swish them about, press the suds through them again and again—and out they come clean and fresh as the day I bought them!"

Lux will clean your very daintiest things without rubbing. It is the modern form of soap—delicate flakes which whip up into a wonderful lather. Your grocer, druggist or department store has Lux—Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

How to Wash Silk Stockings.
Divide a tablespoonful of Lux in half a bathtub of boiling water. Soak stockings in this water. Wash quickly, squeezing the soles through the water. Do not rub. Rinse three times in clear lukewarm water. Squeeze the water out. Do not twist. Dry in the shade. When nearly dry, press with a warm iron, never a hot one.
Do Lux for anything that pure water alone won't injure.
